Coach Andrew Webb has been selected as one of the Carolina Panthers High School Coach of the Week recipients for 2017. He will be featured in the Game Time for next Thursday's game against the Eagles and recognized on December 17th during the Packers game. Coach Webb was nominated for the impact he has made on his team, school, and community. His off the field initiatives include an academic monitoring and support program for all players, community connections through local churches, and special games each year to support school and community charities.

Since 1997, the Panthers have honored high school coaches through the Coach of the Week program. Each winning coach receives a donation of $1000 from the Panthers and the National Football League for the school's athletic program.

Coach Webb is in his third season as head football coach at Clinton High School.
